

Between 2016-2018, New Mexico suspended more than 215,000 driver's licenses just because the person could not afford to pay court debt, or because they could not appear for a court hearing.*

*Based on license suspension data from 2016-2018, provided by the New Mexico Motor Vehicle Division (MVD).